
LANGE ESTATE WINERY

2020 Rosé of Pinot Noir

THE VINEYARDS The blocks our winemakers chose for our Rosé of Pinot Noir include clones 114 and the Swan clone block from our Lange Estate vineyards, augmented by Freedom Hill's exceptional Wyatt Block which is planted to Wädenswil.

VINIFICATION Our 2020 Rosé, like all previous iterations, is grown and vinified for the production of a rosé wine, as opposed to the Saignée method. The lots were crushed and remained on skins for roughly 48 hours, pressed gently, settled in stainless steel tanks, then racked to French oak puncheons, concrete vessels, and stainless steel. Individual lots were fermented with a variety of proprietary yeasts, which contribute to this wine's complexity.

THE VINTAGE "The 2020 growing season began with an early spring followed by inclement weather at bloom. This contributed to a reduced berry set and provided historically low yields across varieties and sites. While low yields can prove problematic for farmers, they are generally a boon for consumers and an attribute of high-quality wines. Buttressed by a warm summer that provided a great balance of daytime highs and nighttime lows, the resultant harvest yielded fruit that was beautifully ripe and packed with richness and complexity. Total growing degree days suggest parallels to superb vintages like 2004, 2006, and 2018. This is a happy indicator that Lange Estate's 2020 wines will be a vintage to savor." — Winemaker, Jesse Lange
